

Pipe Dreams (2016)

As a young kid, I fantasized about owning a motorcycle. I envisioned myself riding along Montauk Highway with the wind blowing against my hair while speeding through traffic. My vision as a young boy was unattainable as I was too young to obtain a license. Pipe Dream is representative of my premature desire. The sculpture is composed of welded steel, metallic spray paint, and an original 1974 Yamaha Enduro gas tank and engine. Missing obvious parts, the sculpture's empty interior space references the motorcycle I never had. Pipe Dreams serves as a memento to my childhood dream.
